

Developmental and Structural Section Annual Report 2003

At the 2003 BSA meetings the Developmental and Structural Section will sponsor a full day symposium "Structural and functional adaptations of vascular plants to wetland ecosystems". In addition, members of our section will participate in two contributed paper sessions and one poster session.

Topics of discussion at last year's business meeting included the development of a section web page, increasing student participation, and the distribution of section funds between student travel awards and symposia. This year, we implemented a plan to host a competition for travel grants and this year the awards will go to K. Ryerson, H. Sevenser, C. Mitchell, and W. Kelly.
