

ARCHIVES AND HISTORY COMMITTEE

2006

The Archives continue to be stored at the Business Office of the Society in St. Louis, Missouri. They are available for research, stored in file cabinets, and sorted in files by year. Betty Smocovitis has completed her study utilizing the archives for her history of the Society to be presented this centennial anniversary year. Other visitors have consulted the files for information to be used in talks and for study of activities of members dating to the 1930's. A number of the books that make up part of the archives were in disrepair. Amy McPherson, Managing Editor of the American Journal of Botany, together with volunteer help worked during the year on restoration of the holdings.

Respectfully submitted,
Shirley Graham, Chair
Archives and History Committee
June, 2006